Green Energy Council

Dear Mr. Sanborn,

October 20, 2009

It is with great pleasure that I inform you that the Final Flatroof System has achieved a product endorsement from the National Green Energy Council. This designation signifies that your product is truly an eco friendly product and that it's application into the mainstream can and will truly help reverse the effects of Global Climate Change while creating a more healthy environment for children and athletes around the globe.

It is the mission of the National Green Energy Council to assist in endorsing technologies such as the Final Flat Roof system in order help expedite their applications in order to save our Planet for future generations of humanity.

Once again congratulations on this achievement!

Sincerely,

Ralph Avallone
President & CEO
International Green Energy Council
